ABSTRACT

This thesis has three objectives; they were 1) to study the principles of Buddhism of the Buddha. 2) to study principles and method of Buddhism propagation of Phrathepworamunee (Wiboon Kanlayāno) 3) to study the satisfaction of the community towards the Buddhism propagation of Phrathepworamunee (Wiboon Kanlayāno).

The results were found that:

To study the principles of Buddhism of the Buddha consisted of different goals, principles, styles, and methods for Dhamma discussion, etc. Every teaching of the Buddha had an appropriate style called the four style of teaching (Desanavidhi) i.e. Sandhassanā samādapana samuttejana and sampahaṃsanā. The Buddha's purposes of teaching were to remove ignorance and delusion, carelessness, inaction, and to achieve success in practice. In short, the Buddha's manners of teaching were consisted of four factors : elucidation, inspiration, encouragement, and stimulation.

The principles and methods of Buddhism propagation of Phrathepworamunee (Wiboon Kanlayāno) were emphasized on knowledge, simple stories, and right- to - the point methods in the current situations of economic, politic, and social issues. He chose the suitable style for himself and for listeners. The topics were interesting and profits in daily life practices of individuals and the society. His manner of teaching was applied from the Buddha's style of teaching. He was named by the Sangha in Isan as "the Buddhist monk sage of the Southern Isan."
